Challenge Rule Agreement Consent

Please kindly review the document thoroughly and sign it before returning it to aiib23.miccai@gmail.com. After careful assessment, organizers will send data access links to you.

Please find the following guidelines and instructions:

1. Participants should register with their real names, affiliation (including department, the full name of university/institute/company, country) and affiliation E-mails.

2. All the registered teams should make a complete submission. The docker container and a short paper need to be included (2 pages at least). For more details, please refers to the terms and conditions.

3. Participants are not allowed to transfer the dataset to others. The challenge data and results will be freely available for academic use only after the challenge results have been published. All participants must agree to the CC BY-NC-ND license.

4. To ensure a fair comparison, participants are not allowed to use any additional data or pre-trained models.

5. Participants can only register with one team and account.

6. All individuals who use our dataset must obey the citation rules. If using these datasets, you must cite the papers:

[1] Y. Nan et al., "Fuzzy Attention Neural Network to Tackle Discontinuity in Airway Segmentation," in IEEE Transactions on Neural Networks and Learning Systems, doi: 10.1109/TNNLS.2023.3269223.

[2] Li, H., Tang, Z., Nan, Y., & Yang, G. (2022). Human treelike tubular structure segmentation: A comprehensive review and future perspectives. Computers in Biology and Medicine, 106241.

7. All participants must give their consent for the organizers to use the submitted short papers to present and prepare the challenge papers (participants from Top-5 teams will be invited to be the co-author). The paper can be uploaded to preprint servers such as ArXiv but must follow the above citation rules.

8. We reserve all the right for the final explanation regarding the prizes depending on the conditions of funding and national and international payment policies.
